The Doctorate in Psychology at the European International University

The Doctorate in Psychology at the European International University Paris is one of the world-renowned program that offers scholars a unique opportunity to research on psychology in a European setting. The EIU is one of the first and only institution to offer The Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D.) degree and is usually pursued by those who are interested in getting hands-on, straightforward practice of psychology. The focus of Psy.D. programme is to train learners to engage in careers that apply scientific knowledge of psychology and deliver it to individuals, organisations, and society.

The curriculum of the program is designed by distinguished faculty and industry experts to provide students with a comprehensive education in psychology, and includes coursework in research methods, psychopathology, psychological testing, and more. Admission to the program is highly competitive, and requires minimum standards, publications, work experiences, evidence of research skills etc. The cost of tuition for the program is very competitive, and financial aid options are available for those who qualify.

The Benefits of the Doctorate in Psychology at the EIU-Paris

EIU-Paris is an internationally recognized institution, providing students with the opportunity to study psychology in a European setting. The EIU offers a variety of programs which are dedicated to research.

A Psy.D. degree is widely respected and acknowledged practitioner's doctorate in Psychology, Counseling and Mental Health. It is designed to challenge the practical knowledge an experienced professional has acquired through their existing career in psychology, counseling and mental Health.

In addition, the degree would help professionals to develop new skills through crucial academic research.

As a result, these newly developed skills help an individual take their career to the highest level, preparing them for important decision making and analyses required for top-level psychology, counseling and mental health positions.

Throughout the Psy.D. programme, candidates are given the opportunity to demonstrate their abilities in strategic planning and advanced decision making. This might involve conducting complex analyses within their workplace environment to deepen their knowledge of their vocational sector as a whole.

Professionals undertaking the Psy.D. programme would develop new theories that focus on improving current workplace practices, with the intention of making a positive contribution to realworld sector specific problems and challenges.

Being one the highest level of qualification in the field of psychology, counseling and mental health, the Psy.D. programme leads to the following benefits to professionals undertaking this programme of study:

- Highest level of problem solving and research skills
- Increased prospects for international employability
- Diversification of career paths

The Curriculum of the Doctorate in Psychology at the EIU.

The program has a dedicated coursework. Scholars will take classes such as psychopathology, research methods, and psychological testing. In addition, students will complete a practicum in which they will gain first-hand experience working with clients.

The programs are dedicated to research. Students will choose a topic for their dissertation and conduct original research on that topic. They will also have the opportunity to present their research at national and international conferences and get published on EIU-Paris International publications

The curriculum of the Doctorate in Psychology at the EIU is designed to prepare students for careers in academia, clinical practice, or research. Upon graduation, students will be prepared to pursue a variety of career paths in psychology.

Career Outcomes

A special Mention of one of the EIU's most distinguished and honourable Alumni – Prof. Dr. Gabriel Cesar Dias Lopes

Prof. Dr. Gabriel Lopes having completed EIU-PsyD and being appointed as full professor by EIU-Paris is one of the highest profile personalities & Scholar in the field of Psychology, research, teaching & mentoring.

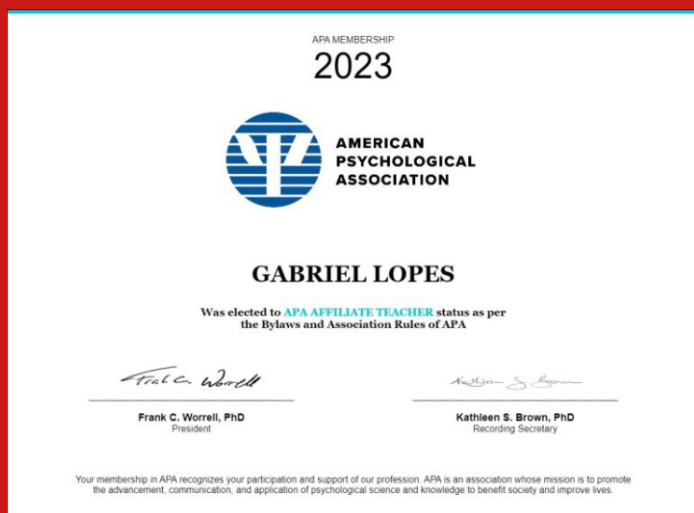

Prof. Dr Lopes recently said "After earning my doctorate in psychology at the EIU-Paris I was admitted to the APA, which is very important and recognisable event for my life. Thanking Dr. Edward Roy Krishnan. APA is one of the most coveted organizations worldwide and this is the greatest highlight for future students

Prof. Dr. Gabriel Lopes is an official member of the American Psychological Association (APA) which is undoubtedly the most prestigious global body and for EIU-Paris this is a jubilant achievement seeing our alumni reaching the heights of the glory in their career.

Quoted- Prof. Dr. Edward Roy Krishnan

In addition he is also an contributor of education materials supporting the personal and professional wellbeing of all mental health workers at the Mental Health Association of Australia and New Zealand, which is a non-government, non-for-profit association designed to unite mental health leaders since its inception in 1999.

The Dean of Business Studies Prof. Dr. Joel Farnworth recently congratulated Dr. Lopes on completing the Doctorate in Psychology program at the EIU-Paris. Prof. Farnworth said It takes an immense amount of dedication and hard work to achieve such an accomplishment. The knowledge and perspectives you gained during the program are invaluable tools that you can use to make a positive impact in the world. It is inspiring to see someone use their education to make a difference and help others. Congratulations again on your success!

Completing the Doctorate in Psychology program at the EIU brought me new knowledge and perspectives. I sought my membership in the APA – American Psychological Association, one of the most respected professional associations in the world and was admitted. In addition to the valuable support from the EIU, I was able to count on the respect of the global community of PhDs in Psychology. With all certainty my satisfaction and conquest is something real. Thank you very much and all the EIU team. Said Dr. Lopes.

Age is no barrier. It's a limitation you put on your mind.

Abdallah Maharik is a Chief Financial Officer of a large Organization in Egypt and is a proud alumni of EIU-Paris. He has something to share about his career and experience

For 25 years I have been working in the field of accounting and finance and have held several management positions, the most recent of which is my current position as Financial Sector Manager of a group of companies working in the field of food has focused my interests over the last 15 years in the field of finance to help some projects that want to make expansions in their production capacity to obtain the required funding to exhaust these expansions. Funding positions have been strengthened by obtaining a CMA certificate (Certified Management Accountant).

I also work as a consultant for some companies in the field of restructuring financial management and achieving internal control. It has achieved important achievements in applying governance standards in some industrial companies within Egypt. I was able to finance a food industry project for 26 million euros through a bank in Germany.

During this journey, knowledge, reading books and research were my best friend. And I wanted to crown my efforts by doing postgraduate studies in MBA and then working as a doctor in business administration specialized in strategic management.

Abdallah Maharik

And by researching and listening to the opinions of some friends I found that the curriculum provided by esteemed university EIU-Paris could enrich the mind with what it needs and achieve more successes in business and governance along with learning modern ways of managing the organization more efficiently so I joined immediately.

During this journey, I would not have achieved anything from it without the support of my mother, my wife and my children during this journey, they are always the main driver as they have provided the right environment to achieve this.

What are the Benefits of a Successful MBA Career.

A successful MBA career can offer many benefits for students, including:

- Increased earning potential: An MBA degree can give you the ability to earn money after you finish your program. Many businesses require a high level of skill and experience, so having an MBA will increase your chances of landing a job that matches your skills and qualifications.
- More opportunities : A successful MBA career can lead you to new opportunities for travel, which can help broaden your horizons and expose you to new cultures. Additionally, traveling during college can give you valuable experiences that you can use in your future career.
- More fulfilling work experiences: After completing an undergraduate or graduate program at an accredited school, most students receive offers from several top employers seeking their expertise in business. This variety of opportunity makes it easier for students to find work that meets their needs and interests, which allows them to build their own careers rather than following someone else's path.
- Improve overall efficiency- The real use case when the MBA learning is practiced in running different departments can bring overall efficiency both in productivity and profitability. It equips you with essential modern management skills and knowledge and prepare you with an enterprising spirit grounded on solid business practices. The programme also aims at providing you with analytical and decision-making capabilities in order to face different kinds of new challenges resulting from the rapid changes seen in today's growing business environment. You will study tools and techniques that will help you develop and manage products and services that will be competitive internationally.

Educational Psychology.

Sounds interesting doesn't it?

What is educational psychology?

It involves the study of how people learn in classrooms and how different teaching methods impact learning. Because this domain is a study of behaviours, its vast enough to involve varied interesting conclusions and is becoming increasingly famous with institutions dedicated to improve learning for students that are tired of traditional learning methods.

If efficient, it can improve student motivation and even allow teachers to measure success which could greatly improve the studying experience for students across the globe. It is further divided into three branches- behavioural, cognitive and developmental. All these domains aim to optimize learning to the fullest and this might be more challenging than it sounds because all the methods proposed don't work for each and every student. Educational psychology shines light on the important topic of classroom learning and is definitely the new career pathway that is set to pave its way into the future given the need for efficiency in our competitive world.

Where can career in Psychology take you?

Earning a master's degree in mental health and psychology can be a great way to advance your career, gain more knowledge and expertise, and increase your earning potential. With so many Programmes offered by universities and colleges related to Psychology, it can be difficult to decide which one is right for you. In this blog post, we will discuss the advantages of pursuing a master's degree in mental health and psychology and what type of career opportunities it can open up for you. We will also provide helpful tips to help you make an informed decision and choose the best program for you.

Are you looking to further your education in the field of mental health and psychology? A Master's degree in mental health and psychology is a great way to expand your career opportunities in this area. In this blog post, we will be exploring the various aspects of pursuing a Master's degree in mental health and psychology, such as the different areas of study, potential job opportunities, and other helpful information

We've told why you should study psychology but what about careers in psychology? Where can studying psychology take you and what jobs can you do?

Despite an increase in scientific productivity and material success, statistics show that the rate of mental disturbances in terms of suicide, Alcoholism, Drugs, Marital Breakdown and the like are increasing at an alarming rate. It would seem that as the material comforts of life have increased, mental health is deteriorating. Mental health is achieved if a man develops into full maturity according to the characteristics and laws of human nature. Mental illness is resultant from the failure of such development.

The demand for professional counseling is on the rise. Alongside, the practice of professional counseling in the 21st century is faced with challenge and opportunity on many fronts. The counselor, whose working environment may range from clinic to school to private practice, will face a wide variety of counseling concerns and a vast client population.

One of our student and alumni Dr. Francis Moreira da Silveira- a Psychiatrist Doctor who recently completed MS in Mental Health Psychology from European International University-Paris is a member of Brazilian Association of Psychiatry, Brazilian Association of Neuropsychiatry and American Psychiatric Association. Master in Neurosciences UniLogos, He is also a member of the Observatory Int. of Neurosciences and Des. Hum. (UniLogos). He gained his Training in psychiatry from Unievangelica Brasília.

Dr. Francis shed great insights for future students who are looking to pursue career in similar profession as himself. He said "I decided to pursue a Master's degree in Mental Health and Psychology from #eiuparis because I wanted to gain the knowledge and skills necessary to help people on a deeper level. I wanted to understand the science of the human mind and be able to effectively counsel and provide therapeutic interventions. I have always been passionate about helping others, and I knew that a Master's degree in this field would provide me with the necessary education and training to become a successful professional counselor or psychologist.

The program that I chose was focused on developing my skills in psychological assessment and counseling, as well as providing me with an opportunity to learn about different mental health conditions and how to best treat them. I also appreciated that the curriculum emphasized evidence-based practices, which enabled me to utilize scientifically-proven strategies when counseling individuals with mental health issues. Furthermore, the program had excellent faculty members who were knowledgeable and experienced in their respective fields, which allowed me to gain a great deal of insight into the profession. Overall, I chose this program because I knew it would provide me with the necessary skills and knowledge needed to become a successful mental health professional.

My master's degree in mental health and psychology has provided me with invaluable insight into the field of psychology and counseling. Through my coursework, I have gained a comprehensive understanding of the theories, concepts, and techniques that are essential for helping others. This European MS program has also taught me the importance of empathy, effective communication skills, and patience when working with clients. In addition to the theoretical knowledge I gained, I also had the opportunity to put my skills into practice through field experiences and internships. This has allowed me to further develop my knowledge and gain an even deeper appreciation for the complexities of human behavior and the therapeutic process. All in all, my program has provided me with a strong foundation to pursue a successful career in psychology.
